BOER POSITION TURNED

British Push Across the Little Vet Under a Heavy Shell and Rifle Fire.

LORD ROBERTS REPORTS PROGRESS.

Action Al. Along the Line of the British Advance to Winburg. Burgers Offer Stubborn Resistance.

London, May 7.—The war office has published the following dispatch from Lord Roberts at Little Vet river: "I marched here with Pole-Carew's division. Headquarters and Wavell's brigade of the Seventh division are two miles in the rear. Maxwell's brigade of the same division is some distance to our right. The enemy are in considerable strength on the opposite bank of the river. Our guns engaged theirs for some three hours without being able to force a passage of the river, but shortly before dusk the mounted infantry, under General Hutton, turned the enemy's right and in a very dashing manner pushed across the river under heavy shell and musketry fire. Our casualties, I hope, are not numerous.

"Hamilton was in action Saturday and succeeded in preventing a junction of two Boer forces by a well-executed movement by some of the Household cavalry, the Twelfth Lancers and Kitchener's horse, who charged a body of the enemy and inflicted serious loss. The enemy fled, leaving their dead on the field and their wounded to be attended by our doctors. MacDonald's Highland brigade dislodged the enemy on the right flank under cover of the naval guns, in which operation the Black Watch distinguished themselves and were very skillfully led.

"Hunter reports that Barton's brigade was heavily engaged two miles north of Ruidam. The enemy's position was quite four miles long and strongly held. He states that our men marched magnificently and carried ridge after ridge in grand style.

"Captain Miller, who was taken prisoner near Thaba N'Chu, has been sent to Ruidam's camp by the enemy with a severe wound in the abdomen. Brabant reports that one sergeant and three men were captured on May 2 while on patrol, and that one of them, who had been brutally ill-treated and left for dead by the Boers, was found the following day."

Winburg Occupied.

London, May 7. — Lord Roberts is making better progress than any one had dared to hope, and is meeting with success at all points. The only news of the actual occupation of Winburg is the incidental reference to it in the dispatch from Vet river describing General Pole-Carew's operations, but as the latest news of General Hamilton's operations, dated Saturday morning, was that he was then preparing to force the difficult passage over Little Vet river, on the Bloemfontein-Winburg road, there can be no doubt that the news of the occupation is accurate.

The Boers, following their customary practice, had evacuated their positions on the Vet river during Saturday night. As Lord Roberts, advancing along the railway, and General Hamilton, 20 miles to the east, threatened the two wings of the Boer forces, it would not be surprising to hear that they had also evacuated Winburg.

General Hunter's progress, although slow, is satisfactory. The idea that the relief of Mafeking is in sight, however, appears to have been premature, as the Boers in that quarter are still stoutly resisting the British advance.

A special expedition to the westward left Kimberley a few days ago and will endeavor to relieve Mafeking, while General Hunter and Lord Methuen are operating on either side of the Vaal river in conjunction with Lord Roberts' army. From Lorenzo Marques comes various rumors that Colonel Plumer has been reinforced and is again advancing toward Mafeking. Another report says that Mafeking has been relieved and General Lomme, with 3,000 Boers, captured at Fourteen Streams.

Hot Encounter.

Vet River, Sunday, May 7.—General Pole-Carew started Saturday on a 19-mile march. He first came in contact with Boers holding the river at 1 p. m. The British soon had two batteries in action, and later they added four big guns. The Boers fired with great accuracy and the duel continued until sunset, and even later there was desultory firing. It is marvellous that nobody on the British side was injured. General Hutton started early to find the drift on the west. When this was discovered it proved to be strongly held and protected by two guns. The British speedily engaged the Boers, who enfiladed the dismantled firing line with a maxim, but General Hutton pushed forward his own pompom and a galloping maxim and forced the Boers to leave the river bed. The encounter was terribly hot. Later the whole British force crossed the river, threatening the Boer right. Thus night fell. In the morning it was discovered that the whole Boer force had fled. The Boers must have received news of General Hamilton's occupation of Winburg.

AMERICAN COMMANDER

Starts on His Long Journey From Manila to America.

Manila, May 7.—The United States transport Meade sailed for the United States at 5 p. m. with Major General Otis and two aides-de camp on board. The warships in port fired a major general's salute as the steamer raised her anchor.

The governor's launch left the palace at 4 p. m., carrying General Otis and General MacArthur's staffs to the Meade. The Twentieth and Fourteenth infantry, drawn up ashore in front of the city wall, presented arms and the bands played "Auld Lang Syne," while a shore battery saluted.

During the morning the supreme court judges and many officers called at the palace to bid farewell to General Otis, who kept at work with his accustomed energy until the moment of leaving.

Since the beginning of the insurrection General Otis has kept at his desk from early morning until midnight. He has never been seen on the Luneta like the other officers and only two or three times has he been seen in society and these occasions were semi-official receptions. The general leaves the army admirably organized, provisioned and clothed.

Hawaiian Republicans Will Organize.

Honolulu, May 7.—A call has been issued for a convention to organize the Republican party of the territory of Hawaii. The convention is to meet in Honolulu May 15. All persons who believe in the principles of the Republican party as laid down by the last convention of the party are invited to meet in their respective localities and elect delegates to this convention. Representation is accorded on the basis of "representation of the several districts in the last house of representatives of the islands." In addition to organizing the party the convention will select delegates to represent the territory at the Republican national convention at Philadelphia. As yet the Democrats have made no move toward organizing in any part of the islands.

Kentucky Town Burned.

Glasgow, Ky., May 7.—The business part of this town was swept by a fire beginning at 1:30 a. m. and causing a loss of $150,000. It began in Raubold's store and residence, which were consumed, causing a loss of $20,000. Extending southward it destroyed everything including the Methodist church, the Telephone Exchange, the Republican newspaper office and both telegraph offices. The principal losses are: Leech & Ellis, drugs, $25,000; B. K. Wells, $7,000; Dickey & Halcher, $11,000; R. S. Palmore & Company, $15,000; Hughes & Depp, dry goods, $30,000; Wood & Mueller, groceries, $20,000; Bradford, saddlery, $10,000.

Time Extended.

Washington, May 7.—Secretary Hay and Lord Pauncefoot, the British ambassador signed a treaty extending for seven months from August 5 next the period of time allowed for the exchange of ratifications of the Hay-Pauncefoot canal treaty. This extension was arranged for in view of the conviction that no legislation upon the treaty can be secured at this session of congress. The extension will prolong the period allowed for the exchange of ratifications until the expiration of President McKinley's term of office.

To Abolish Vacation.

Pittsburg, May 7.—At a conference of the executive board of the Glass Bottlers' Manufacturers association of America and the officials of the American Flint Glass Workers union here the manufacturers made a proposition to abolish the usual two months' summer shut down this year on account of the great rush of business. About 20,000 men would be affected. The question will probably be submitted to a referendum vote of the workers.

Frick Suit Wiped Out.

Pittsburg, May 7.—The court litigation brought about by the rupture between H. C. Frick and Andrew Carnegie, which threatened to seriously involve the extensive interests of the great steel producing firm was cleared from the record. Upon application of counsel for the plaintiff, formal orders were made by the judge of common pleas courts Nos. 1 and 2 allowing the discontinuance of the Frick suit and the coke contract suit.

OPPOSED TO FUSION.

Advance Workers of the Middle-of-the-Roaders Arrive For Convention.

THE NATIONAL SECRETARY TALKS.

Takes Occasion to Deny the Report That Senator Hanna Is Paying the Freight—In the Political Field.

Cincinnati, May 7.—The advance workers for the national convention of the middle-of-the-road Populists, which meets here next Wednesday afternoon, have arrived. They are all opposed to fusion and almost everything else that has any connection with other political parties. Jo A. Parker, secretary of the national committee of the middle-of-the-roaders, has had headquarters here for some weeks in arranging for the convention. He has been joined by many others. They all claim that they represent a large majority of the People's party; that in the contests at state conventions, Sioux Falls fusionists carried less than 300 of the 975 delegates, and that the convention at Sioux Falls this week will be one of excursionists with a minority of delegates, as over two-thirds of the delegates were instructed by their states for the Cincinnati convention.

Asked about the charge of Senator Pettigrew that Senator Hanna was helping the convention, Mr. Parker said: "It is false. The fusion leaders see that the People's party has repudiated them. This has driven them to the extremity of trying to impugn the motives of those who are behind our movement. We expect nothing else but a campaign of slander, but we propose to meet it as it deserves. In truth this whole work has been accomplished, and all expenses of the convention paid with $700, the amount contributed by the Citizens' league. Senator Pettigrew is up for re-election in South Dakota this year, and I do not think it will help his chances much to throw mud at true Populists."

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Terrible Conflagration Wipes Out a Prosperous Mining Town.

Spokane, May 7. — A special from Kaslow, says Sandon the second mining town of importance in the Slocum district has been completely destroyed by fire and nearly all its 1,200 people are homeless and ruined. Kaslo is 23 miles from Sandon. At once word went out that Sandon was destroyed but no news could be had from the desolate town as all wires were down. Several hours later a train came in from Sandon bringing a number of those who lost all their property. They reported that the total loss was between $500,000 and $1,000,000, while the insurance could only have been about $25,000. The flames started between Spencer's hall and Brown's store.

French Elections.

Paris, May 7.—Although it was fully recognized that the Nationalists intended to make a determined fight in all the wards of Paris on the occasion of the municipal elections held throughout France, it was never seriously contemplated that their efforts would be crowned with such success as is shown by the results, which must be recognized as dealing a serious blow to the Republicans and Radicals. The results show 50 definite elections in Paris. The Nationalists have gained eight seats, five from the Republicans and three from the Radicals.

Only Prominent Men.

Washington, May 7.—The president has resolved that in selecting the jurists who shall represent the United States on the permanent board of arbitration provided for by The Hague treaties, he will consider only the names of persons of the highest character and of national reputation. Among the names which have been mentioned as meeting the president's requirements are those of Benjamin Harrison, Grover Cleveland and Richard Olney.

Hardin's Expedition.

Manilla, May 7.—Colonel Hardin's expedition recently landed two companies of the Twenty-ninth infantry on the island of Marinduque. The troops have already taken four towns without opposition, the few armed insurgents taking to the mountains. Leaving one company to garrison the island the expedition proceeded to Nasbete. The cable to the southern islands is broken and details of the recent fighting are not obtainable at present.

To make paper fireproof nothing more is necessary than to saturate the paper in a strong solution of alum water, and when thoroughly dry it will resist the action of flame.

PENSION LAWS.

Important Amendment in the House. Forecast of the Senate.

Washington, May 7.—The attention of the house this week will be occupied with the consideration of conference reports on appropriation bills and miscellaneous matters. The desire for an adjournment early in June makes it absolutely necessary to expedite the supply bills. The most important piece of general legislation to be enacted upon during the week will be the amended senate bill to amend the general pension laws. The principal changes it purposes in existing laws are provisions for aggregating disabilities and equalizing ratings, and to increase the limit of income of widows pensionable under the act of 1830 to $250. The bill appropriating $1,000,000 for the militia of the several states also may be called up under a suspension of the rules.

In the Senate.

Washington, May 7.—Routine business probably will occupy the greater part of the senate's attention during the present week. The resolution offered by Mr. Teller expressing sympathy for the Boers and a desire that the government extend to both Great Britain and the South African republics its friendly offices in bringing the present war to a close, was called up today. It was referred to the committee on foreign relations, but Mr. Teller insisted that it be reported in some form at an early date. Mr. Hale will bring forward the naval appropriation bill, and very likely the greater part of the week will be devoted to its discussion. On Thursday the Montana senatorial case will be called up, but it will not be allowed to interfere with the consideration of the appropriation bill.

A Rabbi's View.

New York, May 7.—Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Hertz, who was rabbi of the Watersand Hebrew congregation of Johannesburg until last December, when he was expelled from the Transvaal by President Kruger, has arrived here. "I went to the Transvaal a strong pro-Boer, but an insight into the Transvaal methods and an acquaintance with the leading officials within the Transvaal and the Free State, as well as my personal experience while trying to remove the obnoxious religious disabilities under which the Catholics and the Jews suffered, gradually compelled me to see that the Transvaal is not a republic, but rather an oligarchy, misgoverned on strictly medieval principles."

Denied Bail.

Frankfort, Ky., May 7.—At the conclusion of the hearing of the motion of W. H. Culton for bail, Judge Cantrill denied the application and the defendant was remanded in jail. Several witnesses testified that a number of threats were made to kill Goebel. Wharton Golden was called to the stand. He told about Youtsey getting the key to the secretary of state's office from John Powers. John Powers told him two negroes had been brought here to kill Goebel. In cross-examination Golden told that Finley said if the contest was not stopped "Goebel and his gang would be killed." Golden replied, "I am with you in that." Culton will be tried here in September.

Dewey at Memphis.

Memphis, May 7.—An admiral's salute of 17 guns proclaimed to the people of Memphis and vicinity that Admiral and Mrs. George Dewey were at the city's gates, her guests. A minute later, amid the acclaim of thousands of citizens and visitors, the distinguished couple stepped from their special train into the carriages in waiting and were taken to the Peabody hotel. Memphis is full of visitors, and nearly every downtown business house is profusely decorated in the national colors. The feature of the day was a floral parade. Admiral Dewey took occasion to deny report that he stated at St. Louis that England was America's best friend and it should be so regarded.

Ohio Astronomers.

Atlanta, May 7.—The total eclipse of the sun on May 28, the last of which will be visible in this latitude until 1918, is arousing unusual interest among astronomers. George C. Collier of Indian Springs, Ga., has received letters from Professor R. F. McFarland of Oxford, O., for 13 years professor of astronomy of the Ohio State university, stating that he, with a party of six or eight persons, including the present professor of astronomy at the Ohio State university, will come to Indian Springs to view the solar eclipse on May 28.

Many Deaths Daily.

London, May 7.—A special from Bombay says cholera is alarmingly virulent among the natives on the famine relief works at Virangam where there are 50 deaths daily from the disease.

LAPPED UP A MILLION.

Mallory Line Steamship Pier at New York Rich Food For Flames.

VALUABLE FREIGHT ALSO BURNED.

Fire Spread to Moored Barges, Endangering Many Lives, but Only One Perished—Struggle of a Sea Captain.

New York, May 7.—A fire that started at the river end of the Mallory line steamship pier at the foot of Maiden Lane and the East river, completely destroyed the pier and its valuable contents. The police place the loss at $1,000,000. Several barges which were moored near the pier were also destroyed and many rescues of their captives and of the members of the families on board were made. Only one life was lost. The 9-months-old daughter of Captain Charles Lochs of the barge Sherwood was drowned. The Mallory line pier was 200 feet long and 50 feet wide. The pier shed was filled with valuable freight of a miscellaneous character, but mostly cotton.

On the north side of the pier were moored a number of coal and cotton barges, while on the south side was the steamer San Marcos and a number of barges. No sooner had the work of fighting the flames began than the firemen and citizens turned their attention to saving the lives of those on the barges which were lying within the line of danger. Nearest to the pier was the barge Stephen B. Elkins. Her captain, Frank Fox, and his wife, his 3-months-old daughter and a baby were on board sleeping. A skid was quickly run from the pier to the coal barge, the occupants of the boat were awakened and were hurried from their bunks to a place of safety before the flames had reached them.

On board the barge Sherwood were Charles Lochs, the captain, 36 years old; his wife, Lenna, 30 years old, and their daughter, Rosie, nine months old. The father took the 9-months-old baby in his arms and with his wife jumped into the water. It soon became a question to him as to which he should save, his wife or baby. He therefore let the baby go, in the hope that she would be picked up by some one else, and went to the assistance of his wife, whom he managed to save.

A number of buildings on South street were scorched, and several were emptied of their tenants, who feared that the buildings would be burned. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Situation Worse.

London, May 7.—The colonial office has received the following dispatch from Sir Frederick Mitchell Hodgson, governor and commander in chief of the Gold Coast colony, dated Kumassi, April 27: "The situation, I regret to inform you, has changed for the worse. On April 23 a force was sent to clear the rebel forces to the eastward. Four members of the constabulary were killed and a large number of the rebels were killed or wounded. On April 25 the Ashantis surrounded the town in great force, probably 10,000, and made a determined attack. The engagement lasted four hours. Twenty of our native allies and two Hausas were killed. The present occupants of the fort number 358, inclusive of 18 Europeans, six of whom are missionaries. It is necessary that further reinforcements be sent to the Gold Coast."

A Stiff Fight.

Warrenton, May 7.—General Barton drove from 2,000 to 3,000 from hilly positions at Rooidan, where he outwitted them. They retreated after stiff fighting, leaving a number of dead on the field. The British casualties were slight. General Barton is still pursuing. Windsorton and Klipdam have been evacuated. General Paget's brigade is attacking the Boer position at Warrenton. The British losses at Rooidan were five killed and 25 wounded, mostly Welsh fusiliers. The British took a batch of prisoners, including the Swedish ambulance, which they allowed to return. The Boers, in their hurried retreat, left 13 dead.

Ex-Secretary Endicott Dead.

Boston, May 7.—William Endicott, 73, secretary of war under President Cleveland's first administration, died at his residence in this city, of pneumonia. Although Mr. Endicott's system had been somewhat enfeebled by an attack of the grip from which he suffered last winter, he had been in apparently good bodily health up to last Wednesday. The funeral will be private and burial will be in Salem. Mr. Endicott's daughter, the wife of Joseph Chamberlain, the English secretary of state for the colonies, was notified by cable.

SURPRISING

Is the Evidence of Taylor's Private Secretary

And Assistant Secretary of State in the Trial of the Goebel Suspects.
 Strong Links.

The most surprising testimony given so far in the Goebel assassination case was on Friday by two Republican officials.

McKenzie R. Todd, Private Secretary to W. S. Taylor, said: "I know Judge George Denny, of Lexington. Yes, prior to the shooting of Mr. Goebel he made frequent visits to the office of Governor Taylor. Yes, he had private conferences with Governor Taylor. Yes, he conferred with Taylor when others were present, among them Governor Bradley and Colonel Breckinridge. Yes, after the shooting these persons had conferences with Taylor. Culton, Powers and Youtsey also made visits to Taylor's office; were with him at times alone.

"Youtsey did some stenographic work for Taylor. He was usually alone with Taylor in his office. He would generally wait until others had vacated the office. I don't know Berry Howard. I saw a great many mountain men in and about the Governor's office before and after the shooting. I saw guns in the office of Secretary of State in the corner behind a plank about five feet high and fourteen inches wide. Youtsey called my attention to them. He said Powers was bragging about being such a brave man, but he hid his guns all the time. He pulled the plank aside and showed them to me."

In answer to a question by Mr. Franklin, "Did you ever see Mr. Youtsey with a gun?" Todd replied:

"I saw Youtsey with a gun on the day of the Berry-Van Meter contest decision. Walter Day, the State Treasurer, called my attention to him. He was standing at the middle window of the reception office. I started in his direction, and he walked out into the hall. I also saw three mountain men with guns. They said there was going to be trouble upstairs, meaning in the Legislature. On the Saturday before the killing of Goebel, Caleb Powers came to me and said: 'Youtsey is in my office, has a gun and is acting mighty funny; I wish he would go out?' I said, 'Why don't you put him out. It's your office.' 'Come in there with me,' said Powers. I got up and went with him. He unlocked the door of his office, and we went in. Youtsey was standing or sitting at the east window holding a gun on his lap, looking out through the six-inch crack between the sill and the blind-covered window. On all the windows the curtains were down. 'What are you doing?' I asked Youtsey. 'Nothing,' he replied. 'Why have you got that gun?' 'There is going to be trouble; I ain't going to start it, but I am prepared when it does start.' I told him that would never do in the world, that he must come away from the window. Caleb Powers said: 'That is right; you musn't do any shooting.' Then I left Youtsey and Powers locked together in the room. I don't know how long they stayed there. Then on Monday morning, the morning before the shooting, Powers came to the glass doors from the hall and called me. 'Youtsey is out there with a gun wanting to get into my office.' 'Well, don't let him in,' I said. He asked me to come out and persuade him away. I went out. Youtsey said: 'Todd, is there any chance for us to win in the Supreme Court?' 'We haven't lost out here yet,' I replied. 'Well, we've got a very poor chance here in the Legislature.'

"I told him the lawyers thought we had a good chance. He then went to his office by the elevator, and Powers went to his office. Powers never told me anything about Youtsey wanting the key to his office. I never saw Youtsey with a gun any more. In the morning of the shooting I did not see Youtsey until after the shooting. When the shot was fired, I was sitting at my desk. John Davis had just brought in the mail and was distributing it. He was standing talking to J. B. Mathews at the Assistant Secretary of State's desk by the middle window in the reception room. Others in the room were Hemphill, Hargrove and Davidson. Don't know where Caleb Powers was. Didn't see him that morning. I can't remember seeing Culton or Golden either. Don't know who was in the Secretary of State's office. The door was locked. Senator Alexander was in the Governor's office. The shot was fired a few minutes after 11. I jumped up and said: 'What in the world is that?' John Davis said: 'The war is on.' I stood by the desk a minute, heard three more shots come from the building in which I was in and looked out of the window and saw that a man was shot. Didn't know at the time who it was. Saw Goebel lying on the pavement in a cramped position. Then I saw a colored fellow running through the lot toward the end of the State House coming from the front gate. Saw Jack Chinn standing by Goebel. Didn't see him have a pistol. Didn't see anybody have a gun. Saw them carrying Goebel out of the yard. Remained in the room a short while, and then somebody said they were trying to mob the building, and I ran out and down to John Davis' house. Told Mr. Davis that Goebel had been shot. Davis came down and got his gun, and he and his son ran back behind us to the Executive building. No other men came with us.

"I was frightened, but Davis said it was our duty to go back. When I got back I went into the Governor's office. A number of people were in there. Saw Judge Denny, Colonel Breckinridge, Captain Sharp and young Mr. Long. They were excited. I didn't go into Power's office. The door was open, though. Don't know who opened it. Was opened while I was gone. I went into the Governor's office and helped to write telegrams to people all over the State saying, 'Riot has commenced; send men.' These telegrams were signed by Judge Denny and Captain Sharp and others, and called for great numbers of men—100 to 500. When I went into the reception room again I saw Youtsey at Hemphill's desk talking, but didn't hear what he was saying. He seemed excited. He was dressed as usual. I don't know who fired the shot that killed Goebel."

Republican Assistant Secretary of State J. B. Mathews testified: "Was in general office of Executive building on the day of the shooting. Was sitting at a flat-top table at the middle window. In the room was Mr. Hemphill, sitting at his desk. Mr. Miller was at his desk. W. J. Davidson was sitting at the desk behind me. J. M. Hargrove, of Somerset, was leaning against the record case. McKenzie Todd was at his desk in the neighborhood of the Governor's office. Ben Rowe, the porter, was in the closet.

"Don't recollect any one else. Heard the shots; one, then a pause, then three more. By the way, Captain John Davis was in the room. He had just handed me my mail. In it was a little box. As he handed that to me he said, 'Look out, it might be dynamite.' Just as the shot was fired I had unwrapped the box. It contained a little photograph. The first shot sounded as if it came from my left about the Secretary of State's office. The other three sounded muffled and further away.

"I turned to get my revolver. As I got it out of the drawer and turned around—I guess it was about a minute after the shooting—Harry E. Youtsey came in from the hall. He had a pistol in his hand and was shaking it. He seemed excited and asked 'What is all that shooting about?'

"I told him to be careful with his pistol. He then went over to talk to Mr. Hemphill, and I could not hear what he said. Governor Taylor ran in then, about a minute after Youtsey with a pistol in his hand.

"I then ran out doors and saw men carrying Goebel away. A crowd of men and boys were gathering near where he fell. I returned indoors and then somebody ran in and said a mob was fixing to storm the building. We began looking for weapons to protect ourselves. Somebody said there were guns in the Secretary of State's private office and we tried to get the doors open, but they were locked. One man got a hatchet and tried to chop the lock off, and a negro porter threw two big lumps of coal against the door. I told them to stop and bring a ladder. I climbed the ladder and broke in the transom and crawled through.

"After unlocking the door from the inside I made an examination of the interior. All the windows except the front window at the southwest corner were closed and bolted, and the blinds were down. This corner window was up six inches, the blind being down to a level with the edge of a half-raised sash. There were three guns in the room, a BRAND-NEW WINCHESTER, 38, ACROSS A CHAIR IN FRONT OF THE WINDOW IN QUESTION. A MARLIN, 38, IN ONE CORNER, AND AN OLD-FASHIONED SPENCER OR WINCHESTER CARBINE OF BIG CALIBER IN ANOTHER CORNER. THE SPENCER AND THE SMALLER WINCHESTER WERE CLEAN AND HAD NOT BEEN FIRED AND THE CHAMBERS WERE FULL OF LOADS. BUT THE MARLIN, I THINK IT WAS, PERHAPS HAD AN EMPTY SHELL IN IT, THOUGH I'M NOT SURE.

"While handling the Marlin I got dirt on my hands, but whether it was burnt powder or simply dust off the outside of the gun I am unable to say. I gave the guns to different people, and haven't seen the Marlin or carbine since. Powers told me he was in favor of an open declaration of war, if he could get the moral support of the Republican party behind him. I have been Assistant Secretary of State since March 10. I think W. J. Davidson is in the State of Washington. The executive journal of which I have charge shows pardons were issued to Caleb Powers, John Powers, Harland Whittaker, John Davis and Charles Finley. I think one was issued for Culton, but am not sure. Pardons for Davis and Caleb Powers were issued before their arrest. I took a message from Powers and Davis to Governor Taylor to the effect that they were going to surrender next day. Taylor said he was glad of it, as it was the best thing to do. They did not surrender the next day. I have been a detective for ten years, and came here from Somerset. I have been looking into this case, and I told Caleb Powers about it. He said his office was under suspicion; that he had nothing to conceal, and told me to go ahead."

R. L. Blakeman, lawyer, of Barboursville, said: "I was in Louisville the day of the assassination. That afternoon John Powers and Wharton Golden came to my room. Powers was almost delirious. Golden was also excited. I noticed their condition and became satisfied they were implicated. I asked if 'any other rats had run away from the burning barn.' John said: 'Yee, Caleb is over at the Willard.' Powers asked if it looked more suspicious for them to be in Louisville."

PITHY POLITICAL POINTS.

Bishop Hartzell may believe that England, if she conquers the Boers, will give them "a more stable Republican government than they ever possessed," but no one else believes it.

Whatever of infamy is attached to the assassination of Governor Goebel must be borne by those who procured and brought about the fiendish, diabolical and hellish act, and such may not escape the responsibility.

It must require a pretty stout stomach to join the Republican party in view of its present unsavory flavor.

Dewey will drop out of notice as a Presidential quantity in due time.

The blood of Goebel has in no wise been avenged.

When men come to admire assassination and murder, then, and not till then, will the foul taking off of Governor Goebel be effaced from memory.

Mr. Cleveland might be able to carry more game than Mr. Bryan, but he couldn't carry half as many States as the latter.

The talk of bringing Cleveland out for President is about the most impotent that could be indulged.

The mention of Cleveland for a nomination must make that gentleman's heart palpitate with pleasure as visions of duck hunting come over him.
